

Leave the existing laws in the state of New Jersey intact. Any revision or modification is unwarranted and unneeded. In its current state the law permits all New Jerseyians the ability to sit and eat dinner in peace. The unnecessary and unsolicited calls from telemarketers is an inconvenience that should not have to be tolerated. How would you like it if I called your house every nite at 6pm as you just sat down with your love ones for a meal? I think you would feel the same as most New Jerseyians.
